

AGAPITO EMANUELE SANTANGELO

Profile

Applied economist working at the intersection of causal inference and digital trace data for the evaluation of public policies. Combining difference-in-differences designs, machine learning and text mining applied to large-scale web, social media and administrative data. Active research lines cover: digital transformation, institutional quality, and innovation.

Research Interests & Methodological Expertise

Research areas: Policy evaluation; Digital divide; Institutional quality; Applied economics.
Methods: Causal inference (generalized and staggered Difference-in-Differences, panel data econometrics); machine learning and Natural Language Processing (NLP) (text mining, embeddings, supervised classification); large-scale digital trace data (web scraping, text mining, high-frequency data) integrated with administrative data.
